HONOLULU IS DEFEATED BY PUN SECONDS

Collegians Take One from the Kaimuki Eleven by Score of 7 to 0

Punahou T. H. S. F. B. O.
The crack eleven of the Honolulu School for Boys went down to its first defeat this season when it tackled the reserve squad of Oahu college on Alexander field yesterday afternoon, the contest being the third of the interscholastic second team series. Pretty team work on both sides made the game an interesting one at all stages, and the fact that the Punahou secured but one touchdown shows that their opponents put up a stiff battle.

With the addition of several new men, the collegian eleven showed up stronger than ever before, the line proving particularly strong when on several occasions the Honolulu men carried the ball well into the Buff and Blue territory, but losing it on downs before they could carry it over the line. This is also true of the Honolulu eleven, as the line proved a stone wall more than once. As usual, Cockett bore the brunt of the work for the Honolulu School for Boys eleven, breaking away for big gains through straight backs and end runs. Koon Yee is another football find on that squad, the quality of his work being brought out when on one occasion he carried the ball five consecutive times, gaining a good 14 yards in all. Cockett and Koon Yee, with the support of Makalena and Norrie, formed a perfect backfield machine, and a little more coaching in the fine art of following interference is all that remains to complete their code of football tactics. Lee, at center, played a steady game for the Kaimuki followers, his passes being accurate at all times and his work on the line good. Kula and Young both got in a lot of good tackling work, but should remember that between the waist and the knee is the proper place to tackle a man, and not around the neck. The entire Honolulu team worked well, but not outstandingly, by the Puns in weight, but not in speed. The members of the eleven deserve a lot of credit for the manner in which they played and have the satisfaction of knowing that they were defeated only after a hard, clean fight.

Punahou's second string new lineup, the collegian seconds, went into the game reinforced with a lot of new material that worked well from start to finish. Every ounce of strength it was found necessary to use to the best advantage, for although the Buff and Blue squad outwitted its opponents, it found the latter to be equally as speedy. "Avarice" Quintal, quarterback on the second squad last year, who has been out of the game for some time on account of an injury, was back and playing yesterday, holding down the position of right half-back. He proved to have lost none of his knowledge of the art of football, for his tackling and end runs were features of the contest. Quintal made two excellent trials at goals from the middle of the game, after the latter hurt his knee.

Forward passes were tried by both teams, but the Honolulu squad was the only one to make a complete one. Two drop kicks were tried by Quintal, but they were unsuccessful. The first try came within six inches of the goal.

The H. S. F. B. worked some good trick plays in the second half, a triple pass being the most spectacular of these.

Claude King, Captain Brown, Mark Bertelmann and Hudson Fleischauer, playing on the line, were responsible for the majority of the tackling work. The Punahou line supported the backs in fine style and stood fast when a stone wall was called to hold the Honolulu back.

Mott-Smith Scores.
A poor punt on the part of the fullback of the H. S. F. B. was the means through which Punahou scored. The first quarter started with a bang, the collegians grabbing the kickoff and carrying the ball far down into the H. S. F. B. territory. The ball was lost on downs and Quintal punted, the plunkin being planted on terra firma on the Honolulu's seven-yard line in their possession. Being in a dangerous position, Honolulu punted, the ball going straight up into the air and down into the arms of Fleischauer of Punahou. The next scrimmage saw Mott-Smith go over the line for a touchdown, while Bertelmann kicked goal, setting the score at 7 to 0 in favor of the Buff and Blue upholders. The entire contest saw the ball shoved from one side of the field to the other, there being no particularly startling features.

The lineups:

RIVAL CAPTAINS OF THE ARMY AND NAVY FOOTBALL TEAMS WHO PREPARE FOR STRIFE

ONE OF THE MOST EXCITING AND INTERESTING FOOTBALL GAMES OF THE YEAR WILL BE THAT OF THE ARMY AGAINST THE NAVY. IT WILL BE HELD THIS YEAR ON NOV. 29 FOR THE FIRST TIME IN NEW YORK CITY, TAKING PLACE AT THE POLO GROUNDS, RECENTLY THE SCENE OF THE BASEBALL WORLD'S SERIES CLASH. HOGE, CAPTAIN OF THE WEST POINT TEAM, AND GILCHRIST, CAPTAIN OF THE ANNAPOLIS ELEVEN, ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO THE MOST DESPERATE GRID-IRON BATTLE EVER PLAYED BETWEEN THE RIVALS.

Punts and Passes

Norrie did well for Honolulu, playing at halfback.

Ballentine played a speedy game at quarter for Punahou. He kicked the only goal.

Bertelmann played in style for Punahou. He kicked the only goal.

Yap netted O. C. a number of gains through his long end-runs.

Kam Moon, of the H. S. F. B. team, was right there when it came to tackling.

Grey took King's place near the middle of the game, after the latter hurt his knee.

Forward passes were tried by both teams, but the Honolulu squad was the only one to make a complete one.

Two drop kicks were tried by Quintal, but they were unsuccessful. The first try came within six inches of the goal.

The H. S. F. B. worked some good trick plays in the second half, a triple pass being the most spectacular of these.

In the third quarters the Oahuans did a lot of fumbling in the H. S. F. B. territory. They had a good chance to make a touchdown but lost the ball on downs.

The Punahou reserves are now ahead in the second team football series, having won one game and played a no-score contest. The Honolulu team comes next in line while McKinley is at the bottom.

The O. C. second team men showed great improvement yesterday over their previous work. They have been practicing hard under the supervision of Coach Midkiff for the last week.

For Punahou, Quintal played a good game. His experience on last year's second team came in handy for the collegians. Last year he worked at quarter but yesterday was shifted back to half, where he did very well.

Score—Punahou 7, H. S. F. B. 0. Touchdowns—Mott-Smith 1. Goals—Bertelmann 1.

Officials—Frank Midkiff, referee; Coach Evans of H. S. F. B., umpire; E. D. Chase, timekeeper; William Ingram, head linesman.

OAHUS BESTED BY HONOLULANS

In last night's inter-island bowling match the Honolulu won two out of three from the Oahus, but were way below their usual good form, excepting in the second game. The Oahus were obliged to substitute for two of their strongest players, but made a good showing, considering this handicap. Both teams showed a decided slump as compared to previous games, which can be attributed in part to the provokingly large number of splits when strikes were needed.

Ketnor of the Honolulu led his teammates in the scoring and annexed both high score and average. His 202 was the only double century of the evening. For the Oahus, Rose again rose to the occasion and demonstrated his ability as a real bowler. To Rose is accredited the double honor of high score and high average for his team.

Considering that he has never played the game before, his kicking and tackling was especially good.

Cockett, captain of the H. S. F. B. team again played a star game for his school. He made a number of long gains and once nearly passed the last Punahou man. His tackling was also good.

Both teams were supported by their rosters. The H. S. F. B. cheer leader handled his squad in great shape and was able to get some good cheers. Cheer leader Emory was on hand and with some new yells. Not many of the students were out, but from those who were there, Emory was able to give the second team loyal support.

The next game of the reserve series comes off on November 5 between the High School and Punahou. This will be the second time these teams have met this year and the contest promises to be hard and furious. The first game resulted in neither team scoring but in next Wednesday's game the O. C. men expect to do better. Since the last game some changes have been made in the McKinley team and a general improvement is being shown. The Punahou team has also been improved and expects to bring home the bacon.

The yacht harbor on the waterfront of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is about five acres in area and has such ample and convenient docking facilities that coastwise steamers and other craft, sometimes six or seven at a time, use it daily, discharging building material.

The basketball games last night at the "Y." with the Honolulu against the Nuanus, and the Oahus against the Waikikis, resulted in victory for the Nuanus and Oahus. In the first half of the contest, the Honolulu scored two points while the Nuanus made 12. Lewis, the Nuanu forward, made a record of five field goals in the first half, and Forrest had one to his credit, making 13 in all. The Honolulu fouled five times in this half of playing time, to their opponents' six. At the sound of the timekeeper's whistle at the end of the first half the Honolulu failed to move up their score. The players on both teams put their whole heart into the game, the result being one of the fastest basket ball exhibitions ever seen on the local courts.

At the beginning of the second half the Honolulu came on with a rush, Henshaw making three field goals and never missing a foul throw. The guards were also on the job in this half of the playing period, and held down the Nuanu forwards to 13 points. Bechert came in for a share of goal shooting, making four field goals, while Lewis came on with two more, and Forrest one point on a successful foul throw which made the total score of the Nuanus stand 25 to 17 for the Honolulu. Fouls called on the Honolulu 6, Nuanus 12.

The Lineups:
Honolulu—Henshaw, forward; P. H. Nottage (Capt.) forward; W. W. Paty, center; A. Johnson, guard; J. C. Wine, guard; Raas, (sub.) guard.
Nuanus—C. Lewis, forward; L. Forrest, forward; F. Bechert, center; V. Marcellino, guard; J. Clarke, guard.

Field goals—Honolulu: Henshaw 3; Paty 1; fouls thrown, Henshaw 5; Nottage 1; 3 points awarded, Nuanus: Lewis 7; Forrest 1; Bechert 4; fouls thrown, Forrest 1.

Waikikis Downed.
The Oahus had a tussle with the Waikikis, who came out with a fairly strong line-up, and the 15 minutes of playing in the first half resulted in a tie score. At times the playing was a trifle rough, and there were many hard falls for some of the players, due to slipping or stumbling over each other. The playing was fast all the way through, with very little open passing, which style of playing always results in the men bunching up, making it difficult for the referee to see what was going on.

Durkee at Guard played an exceptionally good game and held his man down to 1 field goal.

The score might have been different in the first half had Watt been able to place some accurate foul throws. In the second period the Oahus had scored three field goals and it was Anderson's good shooting from the foul line that won the game for his team. Out of 10 shots Anderson only missed two. Cleland, the Oahu center, made two very good field shots and at the end of the second half their score stood 13 to Waikikis 7. The total score for the Oahus was 17, to the Waikikis 11.

Francis Ouimet, the open golf champion, led in the annual fall open tournament on the links of the Country Club, Brookline, October 16. The field included low handicap players from New York and the Middle West, as well as from New England. Ouimet's score of 79 was two shots better than that of his nearest competitor, F. H. Hoyt, his Woodland partner.

Ouimet was the only player to break 80, and, considering the condition of the turf, his performance was not less brilliant than was his play for the open championship over the same course several weeks ago.

LUCK WAS ALL AGAINST NEW YORK PLAYERS

The world's series is buried under hills of blasted hopes, from the National League standpoint, and even American League partisans have quieted down, but nevertheless there are still some post mortems of interest to the fans in general.

Writing of the deciding game of the series, Oscar C. Reichow, of the Chicago Daily News, says:

Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants generally is not a hard loser. He accepts defeat cheerfully when the opposing club beats him on its merits. It was difficult for him to acknowledge the supremacy of the Athletics, 1913 world's champions, on Saturday when Fred Merkle in the first inning made a mess of the play on Frank Baker that really closed the blue ribbon event. That play pained and disgusted Mathewson, for when it was made he folded his arms, said something under his breath and nearly sank to his knees. Probably few saw it, as he did it so quickly, for he braced up and hoped the Giants would still make enough runs to win, but they did not.

Merkle Handcapped by Injury.

Merkle is probably wishing McGraw had not asked him to play after he sustained an injury to his ankle in the first game. New Yorkers are accusing him of losing the game, which is a bitter pill for any conscientious player to swallow. Merkle is a conscientious player and a hard worker at all times. The play he had in mind in that fatal round was a dandy and would have been wonderful had it gone through as planned, but as it did not succeed most of the hard losers are calling Merkle a "bonehead," but he does not deserve it. He was greatly handicapped by his ankle and should be given credit for playing as he did.

Doyle Gave Athletics Start.

Doyle should be blamed as much as Merkle, for he made a rank error on Oldring's grounder that gave the Athletics their start. Had not the Giant captain bungled his play the Oahus would not have taken place. Murphy began with his second sharp single past Fletcher. Oldring followed with a scolding grounder to Doyle, who stuck his toe in front of the ball instead of his glove hand and the ball was batted. Eddie Collins is a great hitter. With Mathewson, a right hander, pitching, he pulled the ball one foot inside of the foul line to Merkle for a sacrifice. Then came the play that ended the series.

Play That Ended the Series.
Baker, on the first ball, pitched, hit sharply to Merkle. The latter, with a perceptible limp, chased Baker back toward the plate and was about to touch him when he saw Murphy, a 10-second man, sprinting for the plate. Baker displayed some quick thinking, observed Merkle's hesitation and dodged to the ground. As he did so Merkle threw to head off Murphy, but he had waited probably three seconds too long and the right fielder slid under his throw. Had Merkle's ankle been O. K. he would probably have made a double play and the fans undoubtedly would be calling him a hero today instead of a "bonehead."

Scoring in the World's Series.
Three official scorers decided on hits and errors in the world's series. Two were appointed by the national commission and the baseball writers assigned their president, Joe Jackson, to act in conjunction with them. As a result, the scoring was perfect, with the possible exception of one play in the fourth contest.

Before the series began a code was arranged to inform the scribes whether a hit or error was recorded. A special meeting was had to decide on this Francis Richter and J. Taylor Spink were the commission's selection as scorers. At the meeting Paul Shannon of Boston pulled a little comedy by suggesting that if a hit was to be credited Richter should rise, and if an error Spink should rise. This brought a hearty laugh, but Spink objected and said he would not be the error.

Umpires Fair in Every Respect.
Umpire Connolly of the American League always has been accused of favoring his league in the world's series. He sure was honest in his decisions in the event just finished. His work and that of the men who officiated with him in the series was fair in every respect and excellent.

Connolly, if he wanted to favor the Athletics, could have done so in the second game at Shibe park, when he called Strunk out in the ninth inning. Had he waved him safe the game would have been won by Mack's team.

ent in the first half had Watt been able to place some accurate foul throws. In the second period the Oahus had scored three field goals and it was Anderson's good shooting from the foul line that won the game for his team. Out of 10 shots Anderson only missed two. Connolly was right on top of the plate and saw that McLean had the plate blocked and that Strunk slid a foot in front of it.

In calling balls and strikes all umpires did well. Egan, it seemed, mis-called a few, but they had no effect on the game in which he performed behind the plate.

Irish Thomas Predicts Victory.
Irish Thomas was one member of the Athletic team who declined to take the series seriously. Every day he was in front of the stand warming up pitchers, wearing a broad smile, and before the third game at New York declared the fight would end with the fifth game.
